

Veteran Programs Sponsorships

About the Program

Missouri Humanities has partnered with organizations across the state to provide veterans and their families with an outlet for self-expression through writing. Our Veterans Programs offer support to both new and experienced writers through workshops, readings, podcasts, and an annual publication, Proud to Be. Together, these programs encourage hundreds of veterans each year to tell their stories.

Support Veterans Programs so that the veteran who is your neighbor, friend, or family member has a free, proven outlet to process their military experience and share their story. A healthy, connected veteran is a stable engaged member of your community, which makes your neighborhood stronger.
